Safety Matches Production

Introduction

Matchsticks are a very handy tool used in starting a fire. They are used in the kitchen to light ovens, kerosene stoves and cookers. Other application involves starting a fireplace, industrial burners, camp fire or to light candles. Matchsticks are made from plastic material, wood or cardboard strips.

Matchsticks are used to start fire under controlled conditions. They are used in many homes for starting fire for cooking. They are also used industrially for starting fire when heat energy is needed and for burning waste materials.

Matches are sold in quantity. There's the wooden type, which are packaged in boxes. And there are paper matches, which are clustered in rows stapled into matchbooks.

Because matches are used in almost every home and in almost every industrial establishment, the demand for matches is always high. This means there is huge profit potential in the matchstick production business.

Market Outlook

India makes four crore matchboxes per day and these are the cheapest in the world. Every third matchbox used in the world is Indian. The industry produces 90 million bundles a year; each bundle has 600 matchboxes and each box has between 40 and 50 sticks.

Wooden match production in India is split into three sectoral categories: the mechanized large-scale sector; the handmade small-scale sector; and the cottage sector. 82% of total match production is in the handmade small-scale (67%) and cottage (15%) sectors, where technology has remained relatively simple. These two non-mechanized sectors of the match industry are distinguished primarily by output size. Officially, the cottage industry in match making is defined as any manual production unit producing less than 75,000 cases of match boxes per year.

As matchsticks are consumer durable product it demands branding activity to get the market share. Matchsticks are sold in volume. The success of this business depends on the strong channel network.

Billions of matchboxes are used all over the world in a day for different purposes like to light the cooking gas, fireplace, incense sticks or cigarette etc. This gives a huge demand for the matchstick manufacturing business. The production of wooden matchsticks is a great option to select.

There is a huge demand for matchsticks and billions of matchboxes are used on daily basis. The matchsticks come to great purpose as it creates fire and fire has a great need in daily life like to cook, light candles, cigarettes and others.

Any individual can initiate the matchstick manufacturing business on a small scale with maintaining safety measures strictly. Matchsticks are consumer durable product and the demand is growing day-by-day. An entrepreneur having knowledge in channel distribution can start matchstick manufacturing business with moderate capital investment.

FMCG Market in India

FMCG product touches every aspects of human life. These products are frequently consumed by all sections of the society and a considerable portion of their income is spent on these goods. Apart from this, the sector is one of the important contributors of the Indian economy. This sector has shown an extraordinary growth over past few years, in fact it has registered growth during recession period also. The future for FMCG sector is very promising due to its inherent capacity and favorable changes in the environment.

Fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) sector is the 4th largest sector in the Indian economy with Household and Personal Care accounting for 50 per cent of FMCG sales in India. Growing awareness, easier access and changing lifestyles have been the key growth drivers for the sector. The urban segment (accounts for a revenue share of around 55 per cent) is the largest contributor to the overall revenue generated by the FMCG sector in India. However, in the last few years, the FMCG market has grown at a faster pace in rural India compared with urban India. Semi-urban and rural segments are growing at a rapid pace and FMCG products account for 50 per cent of total rural spending.

The FMCG sector has grown from US$ 31.6 billion in 2011 to US$ 52.75 billion in 2017-18. The sector is further expected to grow at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 27.86 per cent to reach US$ 103.7 billion by 2020. Growing awareness, easier access, and changing lifestyles have been the key growth drivers for the sector.

The phenomenal growth of the FMCG industry especially in the tier II and tier III cities in India is mostly due to the improvement in the standard of living of the people of such cities and the rise in the level of disposable income

Both the organized and the unorganized sectors are largely responsible for the success of the Indian FMCG industry. The Indian FMCG market also has a well-defined and established distribution network that makes products available even in the most urban areas of the country.
